Hopes for Self-Sustaining Fund... ...Dashed as Deficits Grow Larger

Red Ink Flows Deep in Old Age Pension Ledgers

OTTAWA (CP)—The old-age pension fund appears to be near a state of collapse as a pay-as-you-go scheme.

Month by month it plunges deeper into the red. This year under the present tax set-up, it may show an unprecedented deficit of well over $200,000,000, federal authorities said Tuesday.

The fund, first created in 1952, administers the $55-a-month pension to all 70 years and over. Its revenue, now hopelessly inadequate, is derived from a two-per-cent tax on personal and corporation incomes and on commodity sales.

When this tax first was set in 1952, the monthly pension was $40 and even at this figure, fund outlays were running a little ahead of revenue. But federal experts figured it would be just a matter of time when revenue would balance expenditure.

That hope ended last year when the Liberals boosted the pension to $46 a month in July and the Progressive Conservatives jumped it to $55 last November.

The government has already forecast that for the current fiscal year the universal pension may cost $555,000,000, a rise of $118,000,000 over last year. The special tax may produce about $330,000,000 in pension revenue, leaving a deficit of perhaps $225,000,000.

One federal view is that any revision should be held off until the government gets a report from Dr. Robert M. Clark of the University of British Columbia, studying the United States social security system with a view to having it applied in Canada.

Fine Feathers for Centennial Chief

High man on the B.C. centennial committee totem pole, Laurie Wallace got another feather in his cap —a cap full of feathers, in fact—when he was made an honorary chief of the Songhees Indian band at the weekend festival. Paradox Faces France

'Dictator' Pflimlin Endorses Rebels

PREMIER PFLIMLIN
... time is short

Iron Rule Splits Powers

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Pflimlin bolstered his hand at the helm of France Tuesday night with a ringing parliamentary triumph over the challenging but numerically thin forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

The National Assembly voted Pflimlin special emergency powers to fight the Algerian nationalist rebellion.

ALGERIA PARADOX

But paradoxically Algeria remained in the firm grip of military-colonialist forces, opposed to the Pflimlin government.

And the military commander at Algiers—dictator over the whole great French North Africa region—got a new endorsement of faith from Pflimlin.

SALAN ENDORSED

In a statement just before the vote, Pflimlin made clear he would leave the application of the special powers in the hands of Gen. Raoul Salan, commander-in-chief in Algeria, at least for the time being.

He said the cabinet has no intention of changing the army's present control of Algeria.

So far as Salan's personal role is concerned, he said, it is too early to pass judgment.

VICTORY PROMISED

Earlier, Pflimlin went before the assembly to announce new moves to produce a "victorious peace" in Algeria and cure France's ailing political system by means of a stronger executive.

Pflimlin said he would take fresh measures "to restore the Algerian situation to normal within the next few days."

U.S. May Assist Lebanon Despite Soviet Warning

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles served notice Tuesday that the United States might act to help Lebanon put down anti-government rioters despite Soviet threats against outside interference.

Dulles said there are "a number of areas of possible action" but said he does not anticipate U.S. troops will be needed.

The secretary accused President Nasser's United Arab Republic of intervening to help anti-government forces, perhaps in co-operation with Communist elements.

He refused to spell out what new moves might be taken but said:

"We are not deterred anywhere in the world from doing what we think is right and our duty by any Soviet threats."

The Soviet statement Sunday warned of "serious consequences" to Middle East peace if the United States sought to interfere to help President Camille Chamoun's government.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters) —Anti-Western violence flared in many sections of Lebanon Tuesday as Premier Sami el Solh conferred with his cabinet on the national crisis now in its 12th day. A number of police stations were attacked.

Recession Slowing Ike Says

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower called on the United States Tuesday night to rally all its forces to promote an early business upturn. He said the recession appears to be slowing down.

He also cautioned against disastrous wage-price spirals and appealed to business and labor to guard against "another dismal sequence of ever-rising costs and prices."

And he said that if such increases are not based on increased productivity, consumers will remind those leaders of it "in ways that are clear and painful."

Salan Rallies Moslems

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Gen. Raoul Salan, France's Algerian commander-in-chief now governing here, Tuesday made his warmest endorsement of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Salan spoke about de Gaulle's declaration that he was ready to become premier only by legal means.

Salan spoke as French army sources reported Algeria's nationalist rebels have stopped fighting French troops and local Moslems have ceased aiding rebels.

All people in Algeria, Salan said, "rally to affirm their pride and their determination to be French and to express their certainty in our victory."

Addressing his remarks to de Gaulle, Salan said:

"Ten million Frenchmen determined to remain French, definitely French, indissolubly linked with the army and the republic, tell you:

"My general, your words have aroused an immense hope of greatness and national unity."

Jacques Soustelle, former Algerian governor-general, demanded integration of Algerian Moslems with the Europeans.

He said: "If we wish Algeria to stay French, all Algerians must be Frenchmen like others, with the same rights and duties."

Immediately after the speech, the Algiers public safety committee announced "all the citizens of this province are full Frenchmen."

Prime Minister Bows To Opposition Demands

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker bowed Tuesday to Opposition demands that the government stand by its original undertaking to submit the Canada-U.S. air defence agreement to Parliament for approval.

Defence Minister Pearkes told the Commons Jan. 4 the agreement would be submitted but External Affairs Minister Smith said Monday this would not be done. Mr. Smith's argument—it was repeated Tuesday by Mr. Diefenbaker—was that the Canada-U.S. agreement is an addition to the North Atlantic Treaty approved years ago.

NOT DIRECTLY

Mr. Smith conceded however, that the commander of the North American Air Defence Command (NORAD) is not directly responsible to NATO.

He said the Canada-U.S. regional planning group will report to NATO on North American air defence arrangements. This group, not a NATO command, is an outgrowth of the 1940 defence agreement between the late Prime Minister Mackenzie King and the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

RECALLS PRECEDENT

Paul Martin, L-Essex East, said Tuesday it has always been the practice for Parliament to approve the posting of any Canadian servicemen outside the country. NORAD headquarters is located at Colorado Springs, Colo., and RCAF personnel are there.

Monday it was disclosed that American fighter squadrons, which are armed with nuclear-tipped anti-bomber missiles, will have authority to fly over Canada without advance approval of the Canadian government in each individual case.

This authority is contained in a Canada-United States agreement tabled in the Commons Monday, formally declaring establishment of the Joint North American Air Defence Command.

The Canada-U.S. air defence agreement came into effect May 12. There was no explanation why its publication was delayed one week.

After the Ball Is Over ... ... School Board Complains

Girls Put Cadets First

The relative importance of a military ball and an algebra lesson to a secondary school girl cropped up, in effect, on the agenda of the Greater Victoria school board last night.

In the opinion of the stern and conscientious board, dancing must continue to play second fiddle even on that big night — the graduation dance at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

Question of how long it takes a girl to get ready for a dance came up after education committee chairman W. C. Thomson reported 78 secondary pupils, mainly from the senior high schools, were simultaneously absent May 9.

The list included 29 boys and 47 girls and the Friday date coincided with the graduation dance at the military college.

Mr. Thomson said 14 of the boys were associated with the naval or air force cadets and "perhaps could be excused on that basis."

"But it is difficult to condone the absenteeism of 47 girls—even though their parents may consider a visit to Royal Roads a worthwhile experience," he said.

"These girls stay away half a day or a whole day to get ready," added school superintendent John Gough. "Their parents apparently think that is more important than school."

Asked why it was necessary for the girls to take the whole day off to get ready for a dance in the evening, he said: "They have to get their hair done."

"School is out at 3 p.m.," observed board chairman Mrs. W. W. McGill. "It comes back to the parents again."

Both Mr. Thomson and Mr. Gough said they felt some policy should be set by the board for the guidance of principals.

After considerable discussion the board moved gingerly to allow principals to exercise their own discretion in permitting cadets in uniform to attend special functions.

But little was done to help the Royal Roads graduates get partners for their annual dance.

Board members agreed a letter should be sent to the Royal Roads commandant drawing his attention to the problem which arises when the graduation dance is held on a school day.

'Too Much Spent Curing Instead of Preventing'

VANCOUVER—Too much money is spent on curing illness rather than on preventing it, Dr. Hugh Paul of Birmingham, England, said here.

"I would like people to think of hospitals almost as we do of prisons today—as somewhere to put the few who didn't make it," he said.

"We spend too much money on them and too little on preventive medicine. And it's the fault of the doctors as much as of anyone.

Dr. Paul said everyone, doctors, government and people, must be re-educated about illness.

"When you get countries such as Canada spending 90 per cent of their medical budget on hospitals and only 10 per cent on preventing sickness, something's wrong, everything's topsy turvy."

Star Dies at 67

Golden Voice Kept Colman Popular

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Ronald Colman, suave creator of dozens of memorable movie roles died Monday 24 hours after being admitted to hospital with a lung infection. He was 67.

The British-born actor, a star since 1922, was operated on for a lung infection a year ago and had been in poor health since then.

Colman, who won an Academy Award in 1948 for his role of an ego-maniac Shakespearean actor in A Double Life, starred in such movies as Lost Horizon, Random Harvest, A Tale of Two Cities, and The Late George Apley.

During his long movie career Colman was known as a man of culture and distinction, and he lived the part in real life. Quiet and studious, he was fond of browsing in antique shops and puttering around in his garden.

Colman's voice was one of his greatest assets and helped him bridge the gap between the silent movies and the talkies. In fact sound increased the silent star's popularity.

He was married in 1938 to the English-born actress Benita Hume. They had one child, a daughter, Juliet, 14. His wife was at the hospital when he died.

He was divorced in 1934 from his first wife, Thelma Victoria Maude Dawson.

Colman was born of Scottish parents in Richmond on-Thames, Surrey, in 1891. His father was a silk importer.

World Speed Bid

Can Arrow Top Record?

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada may try for a world air speed record with the supersonic Arrow interceptor.

Many members of the RCAF say privately they would like to see the air force make a bid for the record but that it likely could not be attempted soon.

The Arrow, made by Avro Aircraft Limited, Malton, Ont., under government development contract, has been flying for only a few weeks.

One test plane has been flown at more than twice the speed of sound, that is, at more than 1,000 miles an hour.

The world record now is held by a United States Air Force interceptor, the F-104A Starfighter. It was flown May 16 over southern California at an average speed of 1,404 miles an hour.

The early models of the Arrow are fitted with Pratt and Whitney J-75 jet engines and it was one of these engines which recently powered the 34-ton interceptor to its speed of more than 1,000 miles an hour.

This engine will be fitted into 37 Arrows — eight test models and 29 "pre-production" models used to work out the "bugs" found in the original eight.

However, the Arrow is eventually scheduled to be fitted with the Iroquois jet engine being developed by Orenda Engines Limited, sister company of Avro.

The Iroquois is considered to have greater thrust than the J-75 and with it, RCAF officers say, the Arrow could attempt a world record.

'Maybe Got Wrong View' Says Daniels

VANCOUVER (CP) The defence submitted evidence Tuesday of large-scale, legitimate business dealings between two firms the crown charges engaged in a conspiracy to bribe former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers in return for a government timber licence.

WRONG IMPRESSION

In the ninth day of the Sommers bribery-conspiracy trial in B.C. Supreme Court, it also drew from a chief crown witness an admission that he may have "got the wrong impression" about a $2,500 payment.

The developments came during continued cross-examination of crown witness Trevor Daniels, former chief financial officer of B.C. Forest Products, one of four accused companies. They were brought out by B.C. Forest counsel Walter Owen as he took the witness stand for the third day.

WITNESS SURPRISED

Mr. Owen drew from Mr. Daniels, who resigned from B.C. Forest in 1951, the fact he was surprised to learn that in the office of his former firm were some 15 to 20 files on business deals with Pacific.

Mr. Daniels said he also was surprised to learn that H. W. Gray was a member of a syndicate engaged in selling the Kapoor timber stand on Vancouver Island for more than $3,000,000 on a commission basis and was in touch with Munro on this deal.

KNEW OF DEAL

Mr. Daniels testified that he knew, however, of the Kapoor deal. At one point it seemed to be consummated, but then the Kapoor interests had withdrawn because of income reasons.

Mr. Owen questioned Mr. Daniels closely on his previous testimony that Mr. Munro had ordered him to draw a $2,500 B.C. Forest cheque to cash, and told him the money was to be paid to Sommers through Gray to pay the former minister's travelling expenses on a Toronto trip in November, 1953.

SO LONG AGO

Mr. Daniels said it was so long ago that all that remained now "is an impression of what Mr. Munro intended to convey." He said the conversation could have been along the lines that Mr. Owen suggested—that Mr. Munro had simply said Gray needed money for the Toronto trip and Mr. Munro was going to give it to him.

"THAT IS POSSIBLE"

Mr. Owen asked: "Is it possible that you misunderstood that you got the wrong impression?"

"That is possible, yes," replied the witness.

The defence counsel also questioned Mr. Daniels about two $15,000 payments by B.C. Forest to Pacific late in 1953 and 1954.

PREVIOUS TESTIMONY

The witness previously testified Mr. Munro had told him arrangements had been made in Toronto to obtain a government timber licence, that the firm would have to pay $30,000 for it and that "all or part" of the money was to go to Sommers.

Mr. Owen suggested Mr. Daniels couldn't pretend to remember his exact words with Munro about the two $15,000 payments.

"I have never claimed to remember the exact words," witness replied.

Centennial 'Gimmick' Rejected

A request for school board "assistance" in the sale to Greater Victoria school students of centennial book marks, was turned down last night by the Greater Victoria School Board.

The request for aid in selling the bookmarks was made by Henry Roethel, "Centennial Novelties" representative, in person.

Superintendent John Gough told the board he had already notified Mr. Roethel the board policy did not permit it to help in the commercial distribution of goods in the schols.

On Island

Storm Spread Terror

Terror and havoc were experienced in varying degrees all over Vancouver Island Monday morning when a gale caused power failures, broken telephone lines, heavy rain and shipwrecked speedboats.

The storm struck suddenly about 1:30 a.m. and died down near 4 a.m.

At the Mill Bay home of Roy Crocker, on the old ferry highway, power failed at 2:30 a.m., and one hour later two trees fell across the house. No one was hurt.

At Colwood a large limb was thrown through the window of a bedroom occupied by five-year-old Sam Staverman, 1118 Goldstream, missing the bed by inches.

At Trent Island, near Chemainus, two Vancouver-based outboards were driven onto the beach when the blow struck the area. A number of other boats were also reported in trouble in the area.

In Victoria, two telephone poles were blown down, disrupting service for a short time.

Only the Province Can Act

SOME misunderstanding appears to have arisen with regard to jurisdiction over Craigflower Peninsula in Portage Inlet and attempts to have it set aside in perpetuity as a natural park. The main purpose of the current movement is to have this narrow neck of land placed under public ownership, not necessarily for "development" as a park but rather to save it from being put to any kind of use that would exclude the public.

The land is privately owned now, and in order to make certain that it could never be built over the provincial government or one of the municipalities would have to acquire it for dedication as a park. Where misunderstanding of the procedure which should be followed seems to have arisen is in connection with the question of who should act. Provincial officials are reported to have stated that government policy is that park development in organized territory should primarily be left to the municipality in which the ground is situated.

That is precisely the reason why the British Columbia government is being asked by the Community Planning Association and by citizens' petitions to take the steps necessary. The peninsula, though in fact projecting into municipal territory, is itself in unorganized territory and thus comes under provincial jurisdiction. If it is to be saved from private exploitation, therefore, the logical authority to acquire the property by purchase or exchange is the provincial government.

It would not be sound policy for a municipality to buy for park purposes land which, being in unorganized territory, would be under the jurisdiction of another authority; nor is there any good reason why its taxpayers should be asked to shoulder the burden. In the matter of use, Craigflower Peninsula as a public area would be for the enjoyment of the people of the region as a whole, and should not be the responsibility of only one municipal unit of it.

Problems of ownership and administration could be solved satisfactorily only by the provincial government taking charge, even if that entailed provincial ownership of a park lying within what is geographically a metropolitan area. On that account this approach to the Province is the proper one, and the government should reconsider its policy in the light of the peculiar circumstances.

International Goodwill

WHILE it would be invidious to single out one part of the Victoria Day celebrations from the many imaginatively and well presented, the occasion should not be allowed to pass without recognition of the very fine compliment paid to this community and to British Columbia by the outstanding attendance of participating groups and organizations from the State of Washington and elsewhere in the United States.

Colorful trail riders beautifully mounted, drill teams, bands, fraternal organizations, police precision squads, decorated floats and many other evidences of this sincere and friendly interest from across the border formed one of the highlights of centennial and other events which will long be remembered. Victoria has often welcomed Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and other organizations in its parades, but this time the representation was the largest and most diversified we have known.

When it is understood that to get to Vancouver Island in the middle of the sudden ferry strike entailed dawn starts, hours of waiting on docks, the confusion and uncertainty as to whether they could move at all, the sincerity of the gesture becomes obvious. Greater Victoria crowds, ever shy of demonstration, responded to the marching ranks of our visitors with a warmheartedness which was sincerely manifest. The three-hour street parade, for example, took on an international character which heightened and broadened its human appeal immensely.

There is no doubt that the Centenary made its difference. Apart from that, however, here once again was evidence of international accord on the highest plane: the friendly association of two peoples who respect each other's ways and who can make fun together in the warm May sunshine. As the capital city of British Columbia, Victoria has seldom been more highly honored by the presence of such guests or more alert to show the hospitality of the community which grew out of a Hudson's Bay fort in 1843.

A Nation in Travail

THE events of the weekend did nothing to ease the tension of internal and external problems for the Pflimlin government in France. It is obvious that the situation is moving towards a sharp climax. To observers at a distance, it appears unlikely that the call for Gen. de Gaulle will find popular support in sufficient volume to override the duly constituted National Assembly, which for the most part is standing behind Premier Pflimlin in the present confused situation. If that proves so the army coup in Algeria will have been as abortive as it has already been provocative of fresh troubles for the nation in North Africa.

Premier Pflimlin is standing on the constitutional rights of the Assembly in his warning that there cannot be two leaderships in a nation, pulling opposite ways and with unrelated internal and external policies. The only common ground yet disclosed between the leaders of the Algerian army revolt and home government at Paris is that they both affirm that France must retain its status in North Africa. At that point the external issue divides, and the question of what means to follow shows both sides to be poles apart.

If de Gaullists have been waiting for a strong demonstration at home to support Gen. Massu and his revolt in Algeria, it does not seem to have materialized. In France, Pierre Pflimlin appears to command strong backing in the Assembly, and to be gaining an accession of public support on the home front.

No crisis as sharp as this, however, can remain for long in its present state, with the damage that it is doing to France in all its domestic and external relations. Within the next few days the administration at Paris must either establish its authority, or else give way before factional influences on the extreme right which up until now the electors of France have denied. The latter would involve a national upheaval beyond anything the nation has experienced in all of the post-war period.

The London Bus Strike . . . by Giles

"I'll bet you didn't notice my learner plates when you thumbed for a lift, sir."

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

GLASGOW — All roads lead to Rome, but not in Scotland. When that country's national soccer team is engaged in mortal struggle all roads lead to Hampden Park.

Yea, even in the rain. As the special bus in which yours truly sat in comfort weaved its way — and weaved is the word for the free-wheeling traffic of this land — south from the Clyde we passed hundreds of soccer fans making their way on foot to the Queen's Park stadium. They would be soaked before they got there but what is rain to a true-blue supporter.

Thousands of them packed the terraces at either end of the football ground, standing in the pens that obviate crowd-swaying accidents. Once yours truly, in the heyday of his careless youth, was of their ilk, but now he is a Canadian and Canadians like to sit if they watch a sporting spectacle.

And this was a spectacle worth twice the price of admission: Scotland versus Hungary in the playoffs, as it were, of the World Cup. There was high drama here, for national pride as well as native skill was at stake, and that is enough to evoke Bruce and Bannockburn even if that famous field knew not a round bladder covered with leather.

I wonder if I can paint you a picture. From the centre stand where I was snugly ensconced there spread before my eyes a scene of color and excitement. The rain came down steadily—it never ceased all through the game—but the turf of Hampden gleamed like Erin's Isle. In a precision line for the opening ceremonies stood the players, the Magyars in maroon sweatshirts and the Scots in their traditional blue jerseys. When the Hungarians doffed their coverings they were all white. The referee and the linesmen wore bright green, and the ball boys were garbed in yellow raincoats.

* * *

They were frozen in technicolor as the national anthems of the competing teams were played. I thought the Hungarian tune plaintive, even sad as it ended softly, whereas the swift tempo of "The Queen" that followed roused the blood and made the veins tingle. Strangely enough, as though in keeping, the Lion flag of Scotland strung out to the breeze as the Queen was blessed whereas the flag of Hungary—both of them on the stand opposite—hung limply. It seemed to be a portent.

The whistle blew and soon the famous "Hampden roar" was heard. This is not a cheer. It is a growing, menacing sound that reaches a climax enough to daunt any enemy team. One can imagine that on meeting a Scottish eleven playing with the power and spirit of ancient repute the Hampden roar might shrivel a visiting team. If they were behind, this volume of sound would cause them despair.

I learn that of late the roar has been muted, because the Scots are in evil international soccer days. They have not been doing too well and only ten days before this occasion the roar was a whisper as the auld enemy, England, wiped the field with them. But tonight was different. It soon became apparent that the Scottish team had the thrust and skill of an older generation and the Hampden roar rose strident and triumphant from perhaps 100,000 throats. There was only one drawback—either the Magyars had stuffed their ears with wool or they were tone deaf. The roar left them unaffected.

These continentials are masters of the soccer art, and this Hungarian team moved like artists, lacking only penetration at the goalmouth. But they were matched in elan and studied control by the Scots of the blue shirts, and the consequence was a game worth going 6,000 miles to see. The score? One goal apiece and a fair result it was.

Reports from Ottawa

NOW that the rail strike is over, with a fair and reasonable settlement that does credit both to the union and the CPR, the fact emerges that Prime Minister Diefenbaker's "intervention" to prevent the strike was really no intervention at all.

Contrary to general belief, Diefenbaker did not attempt to mediate the dispute either before or after the strike started. He made no proposals, got tough with nobody, applied pressure only by calling on the two sides to compromise. His role was passive rather than positive.

* * *

Thus the meetings between union and railway heads which he and his ministers attended, and which on several occasions were held in his office, were simply convened under his auspices, his patronage.

On May 8, when the deadlock appeared impossible to resolve unless the government took a strong position, Diefenbaker backed away from a showdown. When the Canadian Labor Congress representatives protested against breaking off talks and letting the stalemate drift into strike, Diefenbaker turned to Labor Minister Starr and said, "You ran arrange a further meeting. I won't be there. I must remain aloof."

* * *

During the further meeting that afternoon in Starr's office, Starr and Transport Minister Hees did little but listen as the two sides tried to dicker. Starr did comment that the CLC and CPR were not very far apart, but he rejected a CLC suggestion that he try to reconcile the remaining difference. He disclosed that Diefenbaker had ruled there was to be no government interference in CLC and CPR efforts to bargain freely towards settlement.

Saturday night, only hours before the 6 a.m. Sunday strike deadline, CLC president Claude Jodoin proposed that all matters in dispute be referred to the Board of Transport Commissioners for a binding decision by Aug. 1. CPR president N. R. Crump said he would consider it. Diefenbaker suggested that Jodoin depart and confer with the firemen's union heads on this development.

Jodoin returned to the PM's office at 2 a.m. to find that Diefenbaker had left half an hour earlier to go home to bed, and that Crump had considered and rejected the CLC proposal. While the PM slept, the last chance of government action to forestall the strike slipped away.

* * *

On May 8 the CLC's proposal (the second of the four it made in the pre-strike talks) was that the CPR keep all its firemen at work, including more than 2,400 in freight and yard service, but that it hire no more for freight and yard service. Crump rejected this plan. He was willing to keep only 1,900 of the 2,400 as firemen.

Five days later, at midnight May 13, the three-day strike was settled along the line of the May 8 CLC proposal. It was agreed that the CPR would keep all its firemen at work, saving only 73 who had been engaged since April 1, 1956, and moreover that it would hire no more.

A little push by Diefenbaker on May 8, informed sources say, might well have produced agreement on these terms before the strike started. That push was not forthcoming.

* * *

Why not is a moot question. Perhaps the PM thought the prestige of his office would be sufficient to prevent a strike. Perhaps he reasoned that the union's case was so weak and unpopular that the strike threat was a bluff. Or perhaps he believed any strike would be ineffective.

Whatever the reason, Diefenbaker's gamble paid off poorly — so poorly that in announcing the strike's end to the Commons, Starr did not allude to Diefenbaker's so-called intervention as a factor in the settlement.

On the Record

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

AN armed rebellion erupts in the most pro-Western (and westernized) of the Arab states, namely Lebanon, and in connection with it two U.S. libraries are burned.

In Greece, a member of NATO, the election victory of the pro-Western party led by Constantine Karamanlis is reduced through gains by a left wing stand-in party for the Greek Communists.

The vice-president of the United States is stoned and spat upon by mobs in the tiny republic of Peru and in Caracas, Venezuela.

These, and numerous other setbacks, occur in countries traditionally aligned with the West, for reasons of self-interest. Here we shall speak only of Lebanon.

* * *

One of the smallest of the Arab states, Lebanon is the most Western of them in culture. Beirut is hardly distinguishable from any Western Mediterranean city.

The Lebanese originally descendants of the Phoenicians, and like their ancestors shrewd and successful traders, have most of their commerce with the West, via the Mediterranean. They have a busy seaport and the most active airport in the Arab world. They derive a large income from the pipelines of the Arabian American Oil Company in Saudi Arabia. To break ties with the West would be an economic catastrophe for them. Therefore, tradition and common sense orient them westward.

Why, then, the recent anti-Western rebellion in Tripoli and the more recent one in Beirut itself? Undoubtedly "foreign agents" were active in both, but such agents cannot succeed unless they have a popular following.

Well, for one thing, Lebanon has a serious problem with the Palestinian refugees, who constitute approximately one-twelfth of the population. Not far from Tripoli, where the first demonstration was launched, a camp houses 8,000 of them. Like all the Palestinian refugees, they blame the West and particularly the United States for their dispossession.

* * *

The social situation in Lebanon (as everywhere in the Middle East) is not healthy. The rich are too rich and the poor are too poor, and the pro-Westerners are the rich and successful in Lebanon, as elsewhere. And the local "capitalists" are not notable for social conscience.

Finally, the presence in Lebanon of an American air base makes many Lebanese who are not pro-Russian fearful, as are most of the smaller states, of being drawn into an atomic war between the great powers. The U.S. is holding its situation there almost entirely with money, and to hold means being perennially held up, as the pro-Western politicians must demonstrate that the "Eisenhower doctrine" pays — though it does not, in any visible, tangible way, pay the masses of the people.

American policy — in which respect at least it resembles all Western imperial policy — works with the established governments and social classes, whom it actually benefits. But everywhere that I have visited it fails sympathetically to analyze and help to guide the underlying but emergent social forces, even though American-educated scholars and leaders have been the chief factors in promoting these forces of Arab nationalism, Arab independence, and greater social equality.

No part of the Arab world including Lebanon is immune to these forces.

So much for the trouble in Lebanon.

Interpreting the News

Mobs and Their Origin

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

A QUICK look at the news can well give the impression that many people have declared open season on Americans.

Bitter demonstrations in Venezuela, Algiers, Paris and Lebanon tell a story of the trials that beset the United States. These perhaps are the inevitable companions of world leadership.

Is there a direct connection between these incidents?

Particularly unhappy is the lot of Richard Nixon, the touring vice-president of the U.S., recently stoned and spat upon, this time in Caracas.

* * *

This new indignity undoubtedly has a connection with earlier attacks on Nixon during his South American tour, and it also seems obvious that Communists played a part. But there are other causes.

Venezuelans have resented restrictions imposed by the U.S. on oil imports from their country. And although Venezuela owes much wealth to U.S. investment, the common folk do not always share in its benefits.

The inflamed youths attacking Nixon also jeered about U.S. racial problems.

State Secretary Dulles has intimated that there was a common cause for an earlier attack on Nixon, in Peru, and on current troubles in far-off Lebanon.

Anti-Americanism was stirred up in both countries by "sources which we can very well imagine," said Dulles, leaving the clear impression he was talking about Communists.

It appears that wherever trouble arose, mobs automatically turned against the Americans, although for different reasons, as is shown in the contrasting situations in Lebanon and Algiers.

In Algiers, French rightists, implacably opposed to Algerian independence, sacked a U.S. information agency library. They were apparently incensed over reports that the U.S. was putting pressure on France to negotiate peace with the Arab rebels.

In Lebanon, Arab mobs went for the same target as the Algerian French — U.S. information agency libraries — because of an internal election fight.

The quarrel is between President Chamoun, 57, who has aligned his country with the West, and opposition forces that are more friendly to the ideas of Egypt's Gamel Nasser, who leans to the Soviet bloc and was recently in Moscow.

There's evidence that Egypt and Syria, partners in the United Arab Republic, are taking an active hand in the tricky situation in Lebanon. They are striving to fan the pan-Arab feelings in the tiny country, which has a small majority of Christians over Moslems although practically all the population of 1,400,000 is Arabic.

The Packsack

Peril of Anonymity

By GREGORY CLARK

IN the bus an elderly woman, well-dressed, quietly slid sideways off the seat and fell into the aisle. There was a great commotion as fellow-passengers lifted her back to the seat, and the driver ran the bus to the curb in order to come back and investigate.

But it was obvious the victim was unconscious. A couple of knowledgeable passengers suggested that her color and her breathing indicated some kind of heart seizure. She was placed on the floor, in the aisle, and a woman and two men took off their coats to make a pillow and a covering for her.

* * *

The bus driver drove the bus to the first policeman encountered, who took charge of the situation. A doctor was soon brought. An amateur stretcher party carried her into a store to await an ambulance.

Next morning, I boarded the same driver's bus and enquired if he knew what had followed.

"There was not a thing," he said. "In her purse to indicate who she was or where she lived. It was away past midnight last night before the police found out who she was, and that was because some friend telephoned. She is all right now, I hear. Her children have been contacted. She lived alone.

"But do you know one thing? Everybody, every child, and especially every elderly person, ought to be made to carry, at all times, some kind of identification on them."

Harvest of Hate

The parade is over and a wonderful spectacular parade it was. A much needed rain fell early in the morning, but the thought came to me, "The clouds are weeping for the disappointment of hundreds of little boys and girls—adults too—who didn't get to see the parade due to the present strike."

Leaders of unions in my opinion should be men capable of deep thought, weighing each side of the different problems that come before them carefully before taking any action. Where, oh, where is there any human decency in calling a strike at this time? They would have our sympathy from some people had they waited until after the holiday. Now they have reached the richest harvest of hate I have ever seen. There should be one more union formed now—union of decency.

It was a dirty trick to spoil a time of gay good will, and a day many had looked forward to enjoying.

For the Needy

May I take this opportunity of thanking all those who so generously gave at the tag day of the municipal chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, on Saturday, May 17, and thereby helped immeasurably with our welfare fund which was almost depleted.

We are called upon from time to time to help those less fortunate than ourselves in their time of need, especially those getting on in years who are not able to afford the medical supplies, etc., they require.

Also I would like to sincerely thank the students from the S. J. Stamps Too Big

In regard to your editorial on the new issue of stamps, there is another factor I would like to mention, i.e., the size of the stamp. Throngs Protest Atom Arms

LONDON (Reuters) — Three thousand persons thronged around the House of Commons Tuesday in demonstrations against nuclear bombs and arms.

The showing was less than predicted by the organizers who expected 12,000 to 20,000 to lobby their members of Parliament.

MASS MEETINGS

Tuesday's eight-hour protest also called for four consecutive mass meetings at Central Hall, near Parliament. The first meeting attracted 500 persons, the second 1,000 but the third and fourth, according to the organizers, were fully attended.

The meetings were addressed by 60 speakers, including 21 Labor members of Parliament.

FLOODLIT SCENE

A march through Central London to a floodlit meeting near the British Museum followed the lobbying.

Members of the League of Empire Loyalists, an extreme right-wing body, made several attempts to break up the demonstrations, heckling the participants as "traitors."

U.S. Admits Existence Of 'Brush Fire' Army

FORT BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—The U.S. Army Tuesday took the secrecy wraps off the existence of STRAC—the force it has ready to fight limited wars anywhere in the world. The navy and the air force must furnish the transportation.

STRAC, the army disclosed, furnished the 500 army troops flown to the Caribbean last week when Vice-President Nixon was beset by rioters in Venezuela.

But that was a minor matter compared to what STRAC is capable of doing with its more than 125,000 men organized into four divisions, said Maj.-Gen. Robert F. Sink, its commander.

Gen. Sink said that STRAC, which stands for Strategic Army Corps and which has been in existence for several years, was organized partly as a result of experiences in Korea. It is intended to get highly-trained units to the scene of trouble in a hurry and "stop the little mess before it gets to be a great big mess."

Gen. Sink had one major complaint—STRAC must call on the air force or the navy for transportation.

"These divisions are a bunch of hitchhikers," he said. "If we don't have the means of getting transportation from the air force or the navy why, hell, we stay at home."

'Rebel' Killer Refuses Clemency

'I Want to Die, Man'

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah (AP)—"I want to die, man. I'm fed up with it all," said Barton Kay Kirkham, 21, a cocky killer who is to be hanged June 7.

If his death sentence isn't commuted at a final hearing June 4, the 200-pound youth will die on the gallows for killing grocery clerk David Frame, 50, in a $50 holdup in Salt Lake City in August, 1956.

Kirkham has refused to appeal for clemency.

"I don't want life. My parents are the ones who want me commuted. They think you can be rehabilitated in prison . . . but rehabilitation comes from within. I guess I'm just a rebel."

His execution will be Utah's first hanging in 46 years.

Is he scared?

"Not particularly. When you live with the thought of dying so long, you get used to it. I may get shook up at the last minute, but I don't think so."

Does his religious upbringing provide solace now?

"There's too much hate in me to accept religion. If I were going on a religious kick, I'd have done it long before now."

But how did society wrong him? Why did he kill?

Kirkham grinned again, threw up his hands and shrugged.

"Man, I don't know. . . ."

Protect their precious future now

Like most young fathers, as soon as your children were born, you probably began to think more seriously about your family's future. You began to plan how you could make sure that they will have a secure home and an education, even if something should happen to you.

The time when children are young, however, is usually the time when the family income is far from ample . . . and the cost of the usual permanent insurance may look quite large. That is why Metropolitan has developed a special life insurance policy called the RPG-5.

This simply means that reduced premiums are guaranteed for the first five years. When the five years are up the premiums will increase to the level where they will remain for the life of the policy . . . but this increase may be offset by future dividends.

So here is an opportunity to get the full, permanent form of protection that your family needs . . . at a lower initial premium rate which may better fit your budget.

This is a perfect policy for the family man whose income hasn't quite caught up with his talents. It has all the cash and loan values that make permanent insurance such a wise investment.

Call your Metropolitan Representative today and ask him about the RPG-5. He will welcome the chance to explain this valuable policy . . . and to show that

Steels Lead Strong Rally At New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks more than wiped out the losses of the past two sessions in announced trading.

Leadership improved with the steel shares the outstanding features. United States Steel reached a new high for the year and along with Armco, Jones & Laughlin, youngstown, Lukens and Eastern Stainless, gained more than a point.

American Telephone met investment demand with its price rising to a new high.

Aircrafts strengthened all along the line with Chance Vought and Temco at new highs for the year.

Railroad shares advanced fractions to more than a point with Nickel Plate a strong feature when the directors ordered the usual dividend. New York Central firmed despite its four-month report showing a net loss of $20,650,291 which compared with a net income of $8,000,494 a year ago.

Metals moved higher with Alcoa up nearly 2 points in the aluminums and Phelps Dodge up more than a point in the coppers. Richfield rose 2 to a new high in a firmer oil section.

Du Pont with a gain of more than a point led the chemicals higher. Philip Morris headed a rise in the tobaccos and made a new 1958 high.

Gold Shares Gain

TORONTO (CP)—Prices rallied in afternoon trading to pull the stock market higher on all sections.

Great West Sadlery was a 4 point winner at 21½ but other industrial gains were kept to a point. Loblaws Inc. was one of the heavier losers, down 1½ at 94½.

Golds were up almost across the board. McIntyre, ahead 3¼ points to 80 and Giant Yellowknife, with a 50 cent climb to $7.05, were the leaders.

Western oils, down almost ½ point in the morning, were firm around noon and at the close were pulling ahead. Bailey Selburn was the outstanding issue in the group, climbing 90 cents, before slipping back for a 65 cent gain at $9.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (Reuters) — The London stock market was firm but quite. The delicate international political situation created a note of caution with buyers reluctant to extend commitments pending a clearer outlook.

Dollar stocks were marked down in response to the overnight decline on Wall Street. Oil shares were quiet and narrowly irregular. South African gold shares were very firm with a certain amount of speculative buying in a market short of shares.

Care of Retarded Children 'Public's Responsibility'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mentally retarded children should be a public responsibility, the annual meeting of the B.C. Association of Retarded Children agreed at the weekend.

Delegates from 32 B.C. centres feel the responsibility should not be left to private individuals and institutions. Retarded children, they said, are entitled to facilities and services the same as normal children, but adapted to their special needs.

The association estimated about 10,000 B.C. children are retarded.

Mayor Percy Scurrah cut ribbon opening building at 999 Fort Street of Prudential Insurance Company of America as its new Vancouver Island district headquarters. With Mayor is Robert M. Green, vice-president in charge of Prudential's Canadian operations who came to Victoria from Toronto for ceremony.

Prudential Offices Avoid Downtowns

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The new Victoria office of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, opened by Mayor Scurrah yesterday, is outside the downtown area at 999 Fort Street.

The move, according to Robert M. Green, vice-president in charge of Canadian operations, was in accordance with his company's policy.

Prudential is planting all its new offices in fringe areas where it can provide ample car parking, and where it has room to build the type of office it wants.

DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS

The new office is headquarters of the Vancouver Island district. The company employs 28 agents on the Island and last year it sold $6,000,000 of insurance in the area, making a total of $18,000,000 of insurance in force.

The company, said Mr. Green, was also a large provider of mortgage money in the district. Real Estate loans in Victoria alone were about $1,000,000.

John J. Wilson, Prudential's investment officer who accompanied Mr. Green on his Victoria visit, said that although money was becoming more available, there was still a keen demand for mortgage money.

NO RATE DROP

Because of this he doubted if the current interest rates on mortgages would drop in the near future.

Mr. Wilson did not think the government would bow to pressure to have the six per cent interest of NHA loans reduced.

"If that were to happen the supply of mortgage money from private sources would dry up instantly," he said, adding that the government itself could provide only a fraction of the mortgage funds required for NHA building.

ENCOURAGING SIGN

An encouragseing sign for Canada was that many mortage holders are now speeding up their captial repayments on mortgage loans, indicating a return of confidence. The repayments had the good effect of increasing the available funds for new loans.

Mr. Green agreed with Mr. Wilson that Canada was showing signs of leading the United States out of the recession before the end of the year. Improved automobile sales were an important factor.

Mr. Green also believed that the number of unemployed gave a distorted picture. While there were many more unemployed this year, the labor force had also grown considerably and employment levels were not greatly changed.

'Listen to Me,' Bennett Advises

'Nothing in Rumors'

Borrowing Is Only Temporary

Premier Bennett yesterday advised newspapermen to "listen to the premier — don't listen to rumors."

There was absolutely no truth to rumors that the provincial government is short of money he said, despite a cabinet order last week to borrow $25,000,000 on a short-term basis to finance the federal share of Trans-Canada Highway work and the proposed national health scheme.

"We have to finance it and then wait for the federal payment," said the premier. "It's sound business to borrow temporarily. . . ."

The reason, he said was that revenue did not come in evenly and short-term borrowing was necessary. It would all be paid back in this fiscal year.

He was asked if it were true that the government would not pay UBC any money towards its matching grant this year, as part of a 10-year plan of a $20,000,000 expansion program.

"Just rumors," said the premier. "Our agreement is that we will put up $20,000,000 over 10 years. It might not be paid equally over each month but it will be paid."

'Only Themselves to Blame'

Loan Companies 'Deserve Losses'

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator David Croll said Tuesday the government is in the housing

SEN. DAVID CROLL
. . . self-inflicted wounds

The Ontario Liberal added that he is not too worried about the effect of this development on the fortunes of private lending institutions.

THEIR OWN FAULT

"They've only got themselves to blame. Whatever suffering they might have is from self-inflicted wounds."

He was welcoming in the Senate a government bill to provide an additional $350,000,000 for direct housing loans through Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, federal housing agency.

GETS ROYAL ASSENT

The measure, previously approved by the Commons, later received Royal assent to complete its journey through Parliament.

The wide-ranging Commons throne speech debate included suggestions for a permanent Commons Speaker, a revision or replacement of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, diplomatic recognition of Red China and imposition of price controls on staple foods and luxury items.

PACT DEBATE SET

The day also produced a decision by Prime Minister Diefenbaken to submit the new Canada-United States air defence agreement to Parliament for approval.

The prime minister agreed to this course in response to criticism and demands for such action by H. W. Herridge (CCF, Kootenay West) and Opposition Leader Pearson, among others.

NOT MUCH SHORTAGE

In the Senate housing debate, Senator Thomas Crerar (L, Manitoba) said there doesn't seem to be a very great shortage of housing in Canada today.

If the government went on financing construction of new houses, people would eventually find it difficult to dispose of their homes if they wanted to.

PERMANENT SPEAKER

In the Commons, Frank Howard (CCF, Skeena) said the speakership of the House should be made permanent on the United Kingdom pattern.

Mr. Howard also said Canada has "a moral obligation" to recognize the government of Communist China.

Reel Prize Catch

TRACY CITY, Tenn. (AP)—A young fisherman near here came up with a real prize catch. He hooked $685.

The money in bank notes dated as old as 1902, was snagged by Billy Thomas in Grundy Lake.

'Exorbitant' Rates For Home Loans Blasted by MP

OTTAWA (CP) — Harold Winch Monday blasted the "despicable situation" in which, he said, some home buyers are charged exorbitant interest rates.

He read in the Commons from a document which he described as a prospectus of credit insured mortgage company of Montreal that second mortgages on new homes were on sale at a 15 per cent discount.

The CCF MP for Vancouver East offered to table the document and, at the suggestion of Hon. J. M. Macdonnell, minister without portfolio, did so.

Mr. Winch said persons who need housing are being "rooked" by others "who want to become millionaires in a hurry."

Companies in Quebec he said, are telling persons how they can take advantage of those in need. These companies were declaring that 12 per cent per annum could be earned on first mortgages, 22 on second mortgages.

He said exorbitant interest rates and the mortgage "bonus" system should be halted. He called for overhaul of the National Housing Act to protect buyers who need homes but who can't qualify for NHA loans.

Mr. Winch, speaking in the Throne Speech debate, also said the Unemployment Insurance Act needs a complete overhaul, to provide for the unemployed at all seasons and at all levels.

Double Inaugural Flight

U.K. Party Pops In On Fast Aerial Tour

Councillor J. S. Harwood of the borough of Richmond, Surrey, became mayor of the English community yesterday morning while flying high above Georgia Strait.

On went his ceremonial chain of office as soon as the TCA North Star touched down at Patricia Bay airport.

PARTY OF 40

His Worship, Mayor Harwood, was one of the 40 British officials, press, radio and television representatives who visited Victoria for a brief while yesterday as part of TCA's inaugural flight across the North Pole from London to Winnipeg and Vancouver.

The group was entertained at a luncheon by Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross at the Empress Hotel and later visited Royal Roads before emplaning back to Vancouver.

McADAM CAME, TOO

Included in the party was retiring B.C. agent-general in London, W. A. McAdam, who conferred with provincial officials.

He will retire Oct. 1 and will be replaced by former MacMillan and Bloedel chairman B. M. Hoffmeister.

Mayor Harwood, who has been on the council of Richmond for the past 10 years, said it was the first time that a mayor of the community had been elected in absentia. The election is made by aldermen and councillors, and although the result was known, it was not official until 10.30 a.m. yesterday.

Petersham Church, where Capt. George Vancouver is buried, is located in the mayor's borough.

Mr. McAdam said he was retiring with "mixed feelings" and admitted that after serving in London for 35 years retirement would be "a bit of a wrench."

He has served under seven premiers and is the doyen of all overseas representatives in England.

"At the moment my chief plans centre around the completion of our London contribution to the centennial celebrations," he said.

These celebrations will include a 10-day exhibition at the public record office in London of documents relating to the early history of the province, a special thanksgiving service at Westminster Abbey which will be attended by Princess Margaret and at which the address will be given by the Archbishop of B.C., the Most Rev. Harold E. Sexton, and the formal presentation of the royal totem pole to the Queen.

Talking over B.C.'s official London centennial celebrations at luncheon here yesterday were W. A. McAdam, retiring B.C. agent-general in London, and Premier Bennett. High spot in the London celebrations will be the presentation of the 100-foot-tall B.C. totem pole to Queen Elizabeth.—(Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Woman Falls to Death From Rescue Ladder

MONTREAL (BUP)—A woman plunged to her death last night when she slipped from the grasp of a fireman who attempted to rescue her from the top floor of a burning three-storey building.

The victim was Mrs. Una Macleod, 50, of Montreal.

Eyewitnesses said a fireman pulled her from a window to a ladder but she slipped as she tried to place her feet on the ladder and fell to the pavement.

From Pat Bay to Holland

14 Amazing Hours

By LAWRIE JOSLIN
(Colonist City Editor)

(Mr. Joslin is visiting Amsterdam, Brussels and Paris on a Canadian Pacific Airlines' pre-inaugural Britannia prop-jet Airliner over the polar route to Amsterdam.)

AMSTERDAM — It's not the size, nor is it the luxuriousness of the airplane that is so incredible. It's not the velvet smoothness of the plane's flight.

What is so staggering is the unbelievable swiftness of the great leap from one continent to another—from the familiar world of the North American continent to the intriguing old world of the European continent.

Only 14 hours ago you were on the bus to Patricia Bay Airport, enjoying the springtime beauty of Saanich Peninsula.

Swiftness Of Flight Staggering

Now you are gazing in wonder at the canals and the narrow, curving streets of Amsterdam, Holland.

In the meantime you've streaked across the mountains, the plains and the tundra area of Canada. You've looked down on Hudson's Bay, dotted with ice flows, stretched out far below.

Your plane has crossed Baffin Island and icy, forbidden-looking Greenland, taking you over the "roof of the world," where the sun barely dips below the horizon on summer nights and sunset and sunrise go hand in hand in indescribable beauty.

You've made a pleasant, unscheduled stop at Shannon, Ireland, and discovered that the Emerald Isle has a particularly sort of vivid green shading that sets its neat, tree-bordered fields completely apart from any others you've seen.

Your plane flew about 400 miles an hour most of the time, so smoothly that at six miles high you were able to balance a quarter on the edge of your chair arm.

This swift, new giant of the air is the latest thing in turbo-jet aircraft—the Bristol Britannia — which Canadian Pacific Airlines is putting into regular service on its polar route on June 1.

Sternwheeler Trips Out for Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 210-foot sternwheeler Klondyke will remain on the Yukon River—for this year, at least.

West Vancouver cafe operator J. S. Lister, who planned to bring the ship to Vancouver for centennial trips in Burrard Inlet, has decided cost of moving the ship from Whitehorse to Vancouver is too costly.

The vessel would have had to be brought 1,800 miles up the Yukon River, then towed 2,000 miles through treacherous open ocean waters through the Gulf of Alaska to Vancouver.

Cooper, Varley Wage Torrid Driving Duel

Veteran Dave Cooper and Dick Varley staged a brilliant driving battle at Western Speedway Monday afternoon to feature the hobby stock car meet before a near-sellout crowd.

Varley, recording the fastest time in the time trials, won the trophy dash and edged Cooper in the fast first heat in what proved to be the best race of the day.

However, Cooper gained revenge by taking the 30-lap main event. It was a thriller from start to finish, with the pair swapping the lead back and forth up through most of the 19 starting cars and lapping eight machines. Varley, starting last in the main event, made a great bid to catch Cooper but had to settle for second place.

One accident marred the main event. Mike Newton suffering only slight injuries in a spectacular rollover. Newton was taken to hospital for examination.

Semi-Finals — Dave Cooper (1), Dick Varley (2), Al Smith (3), Mike Newton (4).

First Heat — Dick Varley (1), Dave Cooper (2), Chuck Harris (3).

Second Heat — Lamont Brooks (1), Mike Newton (2), Larry Van Humbeck (3).

Third Heat — Digger O'Dell (1), Al Smith (2), Harry Roberts (3).

Fourth Heat — Carmen Pascoe (1), Phil Lambrick (2), Bill Temple (3).

Jalopies — Dave McLelland (1), Don Gibson (2), Doug Rose (3).

Main Event — Dave Cooper (1), Dick Varley (2), Larry Van Humbeck (3).

Payne Retains Rifle Honors

. . . Small-Bore Event

Duncan Payne, last year's top marksman, again walked away with championship honors in the South Vancouver Island Rangers' annual shoot held at their small bore range at Luxton over the holiday weekend.

More than 50 sharpshooters from Island clubs fired all day over ranges from 20 yards to 100 with "match .22", the No. 7 Longbranch which is a .303 with a .22 conversion, and various types of sporting rifles in positions from prone and sitting to kneeling and standing.

Payne was first in the standing match using the match .22 with 90/100 and first in the 100-yard match with 99/100. Then he went on to win the grand aggregate for .22 as well as the sporting rifle aggregate.

In the .22 grand aggregate Payne had 770/800, closely followed by Ranger Franie Morse with 769, Bob Walker of the RCMP with 767, Red Ehret of Comox with 764 and Bill McCoubrey with 759.

In the sporting rifle aggregate Payne had 377/400, again just edging out Morse who had 376. Bob Walker had 374, just two points ahead of his son, Eddie, with 372.

It was a great day for the Walkers, father and son.

Const. Walker and his son both made a brilliant score of 99/5 with the Longbranch rifle at a distance of 50 yards to tie for first place. In the shoot-off, Walker Sr. scored 98 and Eddie dropped to a 96.

In Match No. 5, aggregates of four matches, Const. Walker was third and his son, fourth. Const. Walker went on to win the Match rifle aggregate over 50 and 100 yards, was third in the sporting rifle aggregate and took the .22 match at 50 yards with 99.8/100.

His son won the over-all service rifle aggregate with an excellent 144/150.

The Longbranch team shoot was taken by the Ranger team of Duncan Payne, Franie Morse, Maj. A. M. T. Spittal and Bill McCoubrey with the high score of 382, a 15 point lead over the second-place RCN team of Lt. G. Grivel, H. Wells, G. Boyd and Bill McCallum.

Washington Forgiven; Lions Get Passing Star

Universities of Washington and Southern California were forgiven for their athletic sins Monday and returned to good standing in the Pacific Coast Conference. Action will, however, need the approval of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

If the NCAA agrees, as expected, Washington and Southern California will both be eligible for the next Rose Bowl play. Washington's probation period will be up in August and Southern California's in November.

Washington, USC and UCLA were all put on probation and barred from NCAA activity in 1956 for illegal payments to athletes. UCLA is still under suspension, must remain outside the pale for another year.

UCLA, USC and California have all announced that they will withdraw from the conference on July 1, 1959.

Rocks Thump Pils, Return Game Here

Victoria Shamrocks, forced to play their first two games with only part of a team, have served fair notice to other Inter-City Lacrosse League clubs that things are likely to be a bit different now that they are almost back to maximum strength.

Badly beaten by New Westminster Salmonbellies in their first two games, the Mann Cup champions squared their season's record last night at Vancouver as Bert Bertoia paced them to a 14-10 triumph over Pilseners by scoring six goals.

	GP	W	L	F	A	Pts
New Westminster	4	4	0	57	36	8
VICTORIA	4	2	2	36	32	4
Vancouver	5	2	3	36	32	4
Nanaimo	3	0	3	21	32	0

Last night's score: VICTORIA 14 at Vancouver 10.
Next game: tonight, Vancouver at VICTORIA, 8:30—Memorial Arena.

Bertoia, a chunky veteran who seems set for his best season, is now the league-leading goal scorer with 13, of which 10 have come in the last two games. But he is second to ex-Shamrock Jack Bionda in the point race. Bionda has 11 goals and nine assists. Bertoia collected his first two assists last night.

PRESENCE FELT

Bertoia and Pee Wee Bradshaw, playing his first game and not yet in top condition after being kept out of action by a serious attack of influenza, formed a deadly scoring combination. Bradshaw made his presence felt by scoring three goals and making the pass for two others.

Also prominent in the Victoria win was Jim McNulty, who chipped in with his second, third and fourth goals in two games. The slender forward who led the league in scoring when he played with Nanaimo in 1955, is still favoring an injured knee slightly but still has that good shot. He also drew an assist last night.

Victory boosted the Rocks into a second-place tie with Pils, and the Victoria club has a chance to move ahead tonight when they tangle with the Vancouver club at Memorial Arena. Judging from what happened last night, there should be plenty of action for fans.

Play roughened up in the second half as Pils strove to overcome the 6-1 lead the Rocks had built up in the first two quarters. Players squared off several times but only when Al Davies accepted the challenge of Pilseners' Bobby Marsh were blows struck.

Although looking sharp offensively at times, the Rocks were often inclined to forget about the checking part of the game. As a result, the Pils managed to get to 7-6 in the third quarter after appearing well beaten.

But Bertoia and McNulty took over in the fourth quarter, each scoring to bring the score to 9-6. After Chuck Boucher had scored for the Pils, McNulty got his third goal of the game on a pretty play with Jackie Northup.

Centennial Golf Event Draws 196

Victoria's centennial golf competition, a two-ball foursomes event scheduled Sunday at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club, has drawn an entry of 196 golfers from all Victoria and district clubs as well as Cowichan and Nanaimo.

Final figures were disclosed by tournament officials last night. The event, an 18-hole handicap affair, will start at 8.15 and the last foursome will get under way about 12.30.

Among the outstanding teams which will be competing for a big list of prizes, including a silver rosebowl, are Dr. George Bigelow (3) and Bill McColl (2); Bob Morrison (2) and Frank Scroggs (2) of the Uplands club; Laurie Carroll (scratch) and Bruce Hopkins (5) of Oak Bay, and the Cowichan threat of Gordie Whan (3) and C. Wright (5).

Yankee Pitchers Star; Surprising Giants Lead

New York Yankees, with their phenomenal pitching, and San Francisco Giants, making an unexpectedly-serious bid in the National League, continued to make the news yesterday in major league baseball.

Johnny Kucks, a youthful righthander who had broken even in his first two decisions, came up with a five-hitter last night as the Yankees trimmed the Chicago White Sox, 5-1.

Home runs by Mickey Mantel, Hank Bauer and rookie Marv Throneberry helped Kucks along.

Last night's game was the 14th complete game out of 25 played for the New York staff, which has an unheard-of earned run average of 2.0 runs a game. It has also pitched seven shutouts.

Four of the shutouts have been by Bob Turley. The big righthander got his fourth Sunday when he beat Washington Senators, 3-0, after Sal Maglie, with late-inning help from Ryne Duren, had won the first game, 5-2.

Turley has now gone the distance six times in six starts while compiling a 6-0 record. He has given up only 25 hits and six runs, five of them in one game, in 54 innings. His earned-run average is 0.83.

BLANKS OPPOSITION

Don Larsen, bothered by a sore shoulder, has started three times, has won three games, and hasn't been scored on in the 23 innings he has pitched. Little Bobby Shantz is 4-0 while Duren, a standout rookie, has saved six games and struck out 14 in less than 10 innings. Whitey Ford, who was considered the ace of the staff, is only 3-2 but has had hard luck. He has a 1.71 earned run average.

With Turley, Larsen, Shantz and Ford starting regularly and Duren doing what little mopping up that is needed, Kucks, Maglie, Tom Sturdivant, Bob Grim and Art Ditmar aren't seeing much action. The fact that this quintet had a combined 46-27 record last season gives some indication of Yankee pitching depth.

Kansas City Athletics, the only other American League club above .500, won their fifth in a row last night, knocking off Washington Senators, 7-3, as veteran Ned Carver continued his fine pitching. The As, however, are six and a half games back and have lost seven more than the New Yorkers.

Baltimore Orioles moved even with .500 yesterday afternoon by handing Detroit Tigers their sixth straight defeat, 6-4. A sensational diving catch by Al Pilarcik with the bags loaded and two out in the eighth saved the game. Pilarcik had been sent in as a defensive measure, replacing Bob Nieman, the league's leading hitter. Nieman hit home runs in the fifth and seventh innings to provide the winning margin.

Meanwhile, the Giants rolled merrily on, making it eight wins in their last 10 starts last night by knocking off Cincinnati Redlegs, 4-2, as bonus-southpaw Mike McCormick threw a five-hitter for his fourth straight win in a so-far-unbeaten season.

SWEEP DOUBLEHEADER

Victory gave the Giants a game-and-a-half lead. On Sunday, they took 7-3 and 4-0 decisions from Chicago Cubs with Johnny Antonelli and Stu Miller providing the pitching and rookies Willie Kirkland and Jim Davenport, and veteran Danny O'Connell providing most of the hitting.

The Braves, who regained the lead they lost on Sunday by besting Cincinnati, 4-3, in Monday's only major league game, lost last night to the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-3, in 11 innings.

Only 28 Anglers On Ladder Rungs

Fishing was slow in Saanich Inlet over the holiday weekend, getting the annual Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby away to a slow start.

After three days of the first qualifying week, only 28 anglers had entered salmon, leaving 12 unclaimed rungs. On the top rung, with an 18-pounder was D. Green. Bob Harmon caught a 28½-pounder last night but is not fishing in the derby.

Forty anglers will qualify each week for 10 weeks for the fish-off for a lengthy list of prizes topped by $500 in cash, an outboard motor and a movie camera and projector. Membership in the VSIAA and a derby ticket is all that is necessary to start fishing in the derby.

Mounties in Rally To Defeat Spokane

Vancouver Mounties scored five runs in the top of the ninth inning for an 8-6 victory over Spokane Indians in Pacific Coast Baseball League action here last night, but failed to gain any ground on the red-hot Phoenix Giants.

Giants ran their current winning streak to nine straight games last night with a 7-6 victory over Seattle Rainiers, and still hold a half-game edge over the Mounties in the standings.

Mounties had regained the league lead for a few hours Monday afternoon with a 4-3 win over Sacramento Solons in an 11-inning thriller. The winning run came on a bases-loaded walk with two out.

However, the Giants burst back into first place Monday night with a 9-7 win over the Rainiers on a three-run homer by Joe Amalfitano with one out in the ninth.

World-Wide Hassle . . . . . . Starts to Develop

'Rabbit' Rule Headed for Major Test

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Amateur Athletic Federation's rule on rabbits in distance races appears headed for its first big test.

And indications were that the IAAF might well regret having adopted it. A world-wide hassle dwarfing all the track and field battles of the past also could develop.

For a change the U.S. will wind up merely an interested bystander instead of being right in the thick of things.

Here, briefly, is the background:

When Roger Bannister broke the four-minute barrier for the mile in 1954 with his 3:59.4 clocking, he was aided no little by Chris Brasher and Chris Chataway, both admitted pacers.

The IAAF frowned on this, but there was no rule on the book that specifically outlawed pacers. Before the IAAF had a chance to act, the British AAA passed a pacing rule. In 1956, the same rule went on the IAAF books in which pacing was to be "considered" in passing on records. It doesn't specifically say that pacemakers will negate any record.

It does state that runners who receive "apparently" unfair aid can't make records.

So that's how things stand now with Derek Ibbotson's all-time clocking of 3.57.2, not recognized, and Herb Elliott's time of 3.57.8, up for consideration. Ibbotson was helped by Mike Blygrove, who said he was in the race to run the first half in speedy fashion.

Elliott's case will be more difficult and there's bound to be discontent no matter how it is resolved. Drew Dunlap of Texas, a quarter-miler by trade, was inserted as an added starter in the mile at the Coliseum relays in Los Angeles last Friday and led for a half-mile before dropping out.

Everyone concerned denied that Dunlap was sent into the race as a pacemaker. In view of the fact that there were 10 runners at the starting line, including three four-minute milers, there would not seem to be much point in sending in a rabbit.

Elliott says he didn't even know Dunlap. So does his coach, Percy Cerutty.

John Landy's 3.58, meanwhile, remains the official mile record.

NO. 134—HUNDREDTH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 21, 1958 | SECOND NEWS SECTION

Chest Needs $300,000

Work Has Grown 'Tremendously'

Although donations to the Greater Victoria Community Chest's 1957 appeal fell $30,000 below the target of $250,000, increasing population and unemployment have forced the Chest to raise its sights to $300,000.

HUBERT WALLACE
. . . absolute minimum

Addressing the last night Hubert Wallace, president of the organization, said $300,000 was the minimum needed by the groups forming the Chest to operate at peak efficiency.

TURNED AWAY

Their work has increased tremendously these past few years, he said. They have to turn people away because they can't find enough money to give aid.

And so said the Chest hopes to persuade other citizens who do not contribute that it is the privilege of the public-spirited to help private citizens generously.

THINK SERIOUSLY

We would like people to think seriously about their less fortunate citizens, he said. "A lot of people do not think seriously about their donations to the Chest — where the money goes, who it helps and how much help is needed.

Donations should be related to a person's income, he said. Many possibly give what they gave last year without taking into consideration the increasing demands on member agencies services.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS

It isn't necessary that donations be made in a lump sum, he said. Contributions can be spread over quarterly or monthly payments as people wish."

Directors of the Chest feel that $300,000 is a reasonable amount of money to set as a goal, Mr. Wallace explained. Victoria has not lived up to its obligations towards its less fortunate citizens in the past.

We feel people would be happier if they were helping out, he said. The world for much better in their minds if they knew they had met their moral obligations.

Punch, Judy Favored

Public works committee of city council "agreed in principle" yesterday that a Punch and Judy show should be allowed on or near the Causeway and asked the city engineer to suggest a location.

Moyra Mulholland sought permission to put on the show once or twice daily in a canvas enclosure, as a tourist attraction.

"Sounds like a good thing," said Ald. Hugh Ramsay.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow agreed. "A very good thing."

New Place to Live, New Way to Travel

About to enter their new $20,000 house are R. H. Laing and Mrs. Laing and their daughters, Meena, 10, and Doreen 7. Mr. and Mrs. Laing won the house Saturday night at the Jaycees' exhibition, but didn't know of their luck until a neighbor phoned them Sunday at White Rock, where they were spending the weekend. Mr. Laing bought only one ticket.—(Colonist photos by Bud Kinsman.)

It's hard to see who is happiest about it all. Alfred Wallis, 724 Madison left, who won the station wagon at the Jaycees' exhibition, or David Nightingale, chairman of the exhibition who presented Mr. Wallis with the keys yesterday. The car was a door prize. Other winners were Roy Best, 1432 Government, who won a camping outfit, and J. A. Saunders, 2020 Chaucer, who won a boat, motor and trailer.

CPR Steamships Could Vanish From B.C. Coast

A Canadian Pacific Railway official said yesterday it might be "economically impossible" to reinstate strike-bound steamship service along the British Columbia coast if the current seamen's walkout is prolonged.

The statement by J. N. France, vice-president of the CPR's Pacific region, came in response to an earlier statement by Norman Cuthbert, president of Canadian International Transport Workers' Federation, that the union would hold out for a year if need be, and if the CPR wants a fight, we'll give it to them, he said.

'OVERLOOKS WELFARE'

Mr. France said Mr. Cuthbert's attitude overlooks the welfare of 1,500 passing ship members and of 1,000 other company employees laid off.

"It also ignores the requirements of the travelling public and the shippers in the coastal communities," Mr. France said.

If the strike continues, it will force a drastic change in the travel habits of hundreds of thousands of people, he said.

RAISE RECOMMENDED

The union is asking for a 25 per cent wage increase over two years, recommended by the chairman of a conciliation board.

Meanwhile, about 150 members of the SIU at Black Ball Ferries here began a strike vote yesterday. Black Ball has completed the main ferry contract with the mainland since the CPR strike began.

The vote is expected to be counted Friday.

Mr. Cunningham said he knows that negotiations are going on with Black Ball for a new contract similar to those signed by the CLR.

WHILE THERE'S HOPE

If the vote favors a strike, we still do not intend to use that mandate so long as there is the remotest chance of reaching a settlement with Black Ball, Mr. Cunningham said.

Cars yesterday and Monday were lined up for blocks at the Pacific Bay waiting for the Black Ball ferries to Horseshoe Bay. Motorists had to wait up to six hours to get aboard, it was reported.

Black Ball's 10 daily trips can carry 480 cars and 2,000 passengers.

Gunners Present Sunset Service

A small crowd watched the 5th Independent Medium Battery perform a sunset ceremony on the lawn of the legislative buildings last night. An ancient muzzle-loading gun was fired at sunset as the flag was lowered.

Children To Watch On Own

No organized participation of Greater Victoria school children is planned for the visit of Princess Margaret in July.

School board members agreed it was impractical to plan any sort of program during the summer holiday months.

"It's too bad those with authority over the visits of these people wouldn't plan a tour at something less than 30 miles an hour," observed Trustee Richard Reeve.

Headline Experts Stumped

The panelists missed when a front page from The Daily Colonist was used to identify a mystery guest on the TV program Front Page Challenge last night.

The front page of the March 27 issue told of many Academy Awards to the movie "Bridge on the River Kwai." The guest was a Capt. Crane of Edmonton, who helped build the real bridge, and who told the panel there was no one in real life like the character portrayed in the movie by Alec Guinness.

Charles W. M. Adan was sentenced to the two days he had spent in jail at the weekend and ordered to pay fines and damages totalling $38.50 when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate F. M. Patterson Monday morning. He was returned to his depot at Esquimalt.

RCMP said the sailor entered a car belonging to R. Lesse James parked near Strouss Lodge Hall Saturday night.

LONDON (CNA) — A [illegible] parents [illegible] doctor's belief [illegible] age of a baby and a husband goes to his job [illegible] because of the midnight [illegible] baby is [illegible]

Both parents [illegible] they will ever again enjoy a good night's sleep.

[illegible] news comes from Dr. Janet [illegible] deputy area medical officer of Middlesex County. Writing reports in the current issue of the Lancet, the British Medical Journal of a study made by eight of her medical officers on 266 babies.

DEMAND FEEDINGS

The babies were studied from birth to six months of age, recording the method and hours of their feeding. The accepted method in the entire group was demand feeding. That is, the babies were fed about every three or four hours, but if they cried a bit earlier or later than these intervals they were fed on demand.

Happily, it was noted that the babies need for night feeding seemed to top fairly suddenly. Typically, a baby would scream [illegible] for a feeding for two or three days one week and the next week he no longer would demand a night feeding. In fact there were many mothers who never gave a baby a night feeding.

NO DIFFERENCE

These reported that the baby slept nearly from 10 at night to five or six in the morning without a feeding. There was no difference in the bottle-fed or breast-fed baby. There was also no noticeable difference between babies who were taken care of at home and those who were in institutions.

The important consistent factor was the birth weight of the baby. The larger the baby, the more apt he was to give up his night feeding early.

It is interesting to note that 52 per cent of the heavier babies (those over eight pounds at birth) gave up their night feeding by one month of age as against only 27 per cent of the tiny babies who weighed six and a half pounds.

By two months of age 81 per cent of the large babies and 62 per cent of the boys ones had given up the night feeding and by three months nearly all of both groups had not awaken for night feeding. By this time the birth weight made no difference in the two groups.

THREE-MONTH LIMIT

The [illegible] article goes to the [illegible] says [illegible] small babies give up night feeding whether bottle- or breast-fed by three months of age. If the baby passes eight pounds at birth, the chances are very good that almost from birth he will not want a night feeding or [illegible] by one month. If [illegible] boy's [illegible] per cent of the babies by two months [illegible] cent by three months will [illegible] just [illegible] to [illegible] schedule of feeding which [illegible] makes the mother's [illegible]

If the baby is over eight pounds and cries for a night feeding, what then? He probably can be trained to [illegible] for say a few nights, suggests the doctor. If he still demands his meal, then he needs it and parents will have to suffer.

WE CERTAINLY WANT TO KEEP ANDRO IN SIGHT, DESMOND. IT WOULDN'T DO TO GET LOST OUT HERE IN THE SOUTH SEAS...
I COULDN'T AGREE MORE HEARTILY, SIR.
WHAT IS THAT ISLAND OVER THERE, ANDRO?
IT IS NOTHING, MR. KIRBY. SAND AND A FEW PALMS. NO ONE LIVES THERE...
FROM HER HIGH VANTAGE POINT, TEELA SEES THE TWO SAILS...
THOSE OUTRIGGERS! THEY MUST BE ISLANDERS! OH, IF ONLY THEY WOULD COME HERE...

Drop Seed and Jump!

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

In my last column I told you about the bag of seeds I have received from California seeds of the new Centennial Hybrid Zinnias a foolproof plant for folks who don't have the green thumb, and one which makes a gorgeous fluffy flower for all the world like one of those expensive shaggy chrysanthemums.

The bagful isn't as big as I could [illegible] papery, and I'd like to have [illegible] of them to send a hatful to every one of my readers. Seeds of new hybrid flowers are always in short supply though, and these in particular are scarce and outrage asks [illegible]. Nevertheless, I can muster a little better than a dozen of the big seeds for each of my gardening friends who would like to try his hand at growing this sun-loving and colorful annual.

To get your free packet of Centennial Hybrid Zinnia seeds [illegible] fill out the attached coupon, and send it in to me, care of The Daily Colonist, together with a stamped and self-addressed envelope. When your letter arrives, my colleagues at the Colonist office will open your letter, put the envelope, slip a packet of seeds into it and mail it right back to you.

The Zinnia is one flower that performs every better than [illegible] outdoor sewing [illegible] week. Its [illegible] are [illegible] under glass or [illegible] and [illegible] a sparkling [illegible] deep [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible]

Bulldozing Phil 'Fastest Canadian'

The exploits of Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi are contained in a five-page article in the June issue of Coronet magazine entitled "The Bulldozing Little Preacher."

"Souls get saved and roads get built when dynamic Phil Gaglardi explodes into action on Canada's western frontier," the magazine states.

Written by William L. Worden, the article terms Mr. Gaglardi "the fastest-moving man in Canada."

Although North's was a preemptive kind of hand it was not strong enough to warrant a jump to four hearts. [illegible] had his trump suit [illegible] included the king which would have made the slam [illegible] down. With his actual hand [illegible] must respond one spade or [illegible] clubs.

With the king of [illegible] dummy, South could make certain of his slam by winning the opening diamond [illegible] trumps, trumping a diamond [illegible] and leading a low club to [illegible] eight spot. No matter what West did [illegible] West returns after winning the [illegible] ten of clubs, South will [illegible] rest of the tricks. City to Study Sidewalk Chute Hazard

City engineer James Garnett was instructed yesterday to look into ways of removing hazards from the sidewalk doors that usually cover freight elevators or chutes.

City council public works committee asked him to study the situation after receiving a letter from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind saying that the sidewalk doors when open presented a real danger to unaccompanied blind persons.

"Some of them are a hazard even when they're closed, and to people with sight," Ald. Hugh Ramsay said. He and other committee members agreed they had seen many of them in disrepair.

Red Author Well Down

Hemingway Best For Hungarians

NEW YORK (NANA)—The guardians of literary taste in Budapest are disturbed to find that Ernest Hemingway is the favorite foreign author in Hungary.

According to a poll taken by Wide World, a Hungarian monthly literary periodical with a large circulation, only one Soviet author was named on the roll. He was M. A. Sholokov, a "social-realist" novelist and he was 13th on the list.

The number of votes each author received was not given and publication of the results was held up for two months according to the Free Europe committee, New York, which studies East European publications.

Five of the 19 most popular foreign authors were Americans. The rating was as follows:

1, Ernest Hemingway; 2, Graham Greene; 3, Aldous Huxley; 4, Thomas Mann; 5, Albert Camus; 6, Jean Cocteau; 7, Louis Aragon; 8, John Steinbeck; 9, Bertholdt Brecht; 10, Francois Mauriac; 11, Thornton Wilder; 12, Leonhard (C.Q.) Frank; 13, Sholokov; 14, Jean Paul Sartre; 15, Vasco Pratolini; 16, Erskine Caldwell; 17, James Joyce; 18, William Faulkner; 19, Somerset Maugham.

The magazine commented bitterly about its readers' lack of discernment.

WASHINGTON — Some high government officials are urging President Eisenhower to announce plans by June 30 to suspend U.S. nuclear tests. They believe the announcement would score a propaganda victory.

How most girls and women got relief from

SPECIAL FEMALE PAIN, DISTRESS!

Tests show both monthly cramps and tension, and "hot flashes" of change-of-life, may be effectively relieved by tablets specially created for women.

In "female suffering" handicapping women as it did in grandmother's day? NO—not among those who rely on scientific findings to get relief! They find such suffering in most cases can be relieved!

Such are the findings of tests made under scientific auspices at our direction. In these tests, the majority of women benefited . . . many strikingly!

The combination of medicines these women found so effective was developed especially for the ailments of women . . . and is available under the name of Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets.

The relief they give from monthly cramps, backaches, headaches is equalled by the soothing effect they have on "hot flashes" and other distress of change-of-life. Pinkham's also helps older women with blood-strengthening iron!

So — whatever your age, chances are you'll feel better by taking Pinkham's Tablets as needed. Thousands have taken them for years.

See if you don't get the same benefits they have obtained.

Thieves Get Cash In Weekend Raids

Thieves stole a total of about $568 in cash in three break-ins during the holiday weekend. All the loot came from two premises.

Early Sunday morning a patrolling constable found the front door of the Eagles Home, 751 View, had been forced open. Dials had been knocked from two safes inside, and a desk drawer [illegible] $244 in cash.

A slim thief, able to wriggle through an opening only about 6½ inches wide, took $324 in cash and some cheques from the Arthur Murray Dance Studios, 715 Yates, during the weekend. The theft was reported to city police at 10.20 a.m. yesterday.

Entry was gained through a washroom window opening off a fire escape at the rear, the window opening only 6½ inches.

Once inside, the thief took from a desk drawer a key to open filing cabinet in which the money was locked.

Third break-in happened some time Saturday at Stewart and Hudson Ltd., 405 Gorge, but nothing was reported missing.

Irrigation was practised in Mexico long before the Spanish conquest in the 16th century.

Soldier Loses Life As Tanks Collide

NANAIMO—Empire weekend celebrations were marred in Nanaimo Sunday when a young member of the B.C. Regiment was killed in a tank training exercise at the Harewood tank range.

Gerald Walter Edgar, 17, of Vancouver, died of shock and severe abdominal injuries about half an hour after the collision between two 36-ton Sherman tanks at 9.30 a.m.

A coroner's jury found that the crash occurred due to a misunderstanding between the instructor and driver in the tank.

It recommended stricter instructions to personnel, requiring that they retain their correct riding positions in tanks.

Evidence showed that an intercom which was used to relay messages between the tank commander and driver in the vehicle in which Edgar was riding was faulty, and that Edgar had apparently [illegible] up in his seat.

Trooper Patrick Francois, crew commander of the leading tank, saw the following tank coming.

The gun barrel of the following tank struck the first tank and spun around. The driver's hatch was torn off and Edgar was jammed between the gun barrel and the jagged metal.

Banquet Honors Pioneers Of Old Alberni Valley

ALBERNI — Twenty pioneer certificates and three for outstanding contribution to the community were presented at the centennial banquet here Saturday night, honoring the oldtimers who knew the Alberni Valley before 1896.

A. W. Neill, who served the district as MLA and MP for more than 40 years; Mrs. Frances Morrison and Mrs. Eva Watts received the special awards. Mr. Neill was unable to attend, but sent his best wishes to old friends.

Many tales of pioneer days were exchanged by the guests at the banquet sponsored by Somass Legion branch and Alberni Valley centennial committee. Jack Hills acted as master of ceremonies. Among those who spoke briefly to the gathering were Alex Thomas, acting as spokesman for Indians among the honored guests; Charles Taylor, who arrived by canoe in Alberni as a small boy 74 years ago; Alfred Carmichael, who told of the unsuccessful attempt to found a paper manufacturing industry in the early 1890s.

Mr. Thomas introduced Mrs. Lucy Jack of Sarita, 107 years old, who replied to a round of applause with a few words in the Indian language. Two score of natives, most of whom could recall when their race was in the majority among residents of the Alberni, joined in a rousing song.

Bringing Up Baby
HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

What is a Baby? Words by the score have been written on this subject, but none more delightful than Gerber's exclusive recording called "What is a Baby"—narrated by ROSEMARY CLOONEY . . . popular TV personality and mother of three. It's a make-you-smile biography of your baby and all babies, told with the tenderness and chuckling insight all parents will cherish. On the other side of the record, Miss Clooney sings 2 favorite lullabies: "Close Your Eyes" and "All the Pretty Little Horses."

For this 7 inch, 33⅓ Lp Columbia recording, just send 50¢ and 6 labels or boxtops to Dept. R, Gerber Baby Foods, Box 4027, Terminal A, Toronto, Canada.

Lines on laundering. Be it a diaper, dress, nightie or whatever, wash all brand-new baby garments before putting them on baby. Many fabrics have sizing in them which may be irritating to your darling's delicate skin.

"Airing the subject". After baby's bath, turn him over on his tummy for a 3-minute "air bath" before diapering. Tender skin that's perfectly dry is less apt to get irritated. And be lavish with lotion . . . especially in those adorable chubby creases.

The Gerber reputation for quality wasn't built in a day. It's the result of over 30 years of research in infant nutrition. For example: Gerber nutritionists tell me that baby cereals must be thoroughly digestible if the baby is to get full nutritive value from them. Gerber specialists developed an exclusive cooking method which insures complete digestibility of Gerber Cereals. What's more, all Gerber Cereals are subjected to two tests which measure the degree of digestibility. This is but one Gerber way of seeing that your baby gets uniformly excellent quality in his cereals. Gerber Baby Foods, Niagara Falls, Canada.

Brand New Stadium Opened at Nanaimo

NANAIMO—The new sports stadium at Exhibition Park received its name Saturday when Mayor Pete Maffeo officially opened the park.

Nine-year-old Jackie Caillet was responsible for selecting the name "Grandview Bowl" in a recent competition. His prize was a new bicycle.

On Monday the bowl was packed to capacity for the daredevil driving displays and sprint car racing.

About 2,500 people attended the Empire Day pageant Saturday evening.

John Devito of Port Alberni won the Kiwanish fishing derby Sunday with a 14.9 spring salmon.

Women's prize was taken by Mrs. Herby Addison of Nanaimo who weighed in a fish at 10:4. Eddie Wilcox won the junior prize.

More than 4,000 people went over to Newcastle Island for the Lions picnic and salmon barbecue. Nanaimo Indians cooked and sold 500 pounds of salmon.

Several hundred people Monday morning watched 15-year-old Harvey Trien retain the Nanaimo championship trophy for soap-box racing, and David Woodley, of Chemainus, the grand challenge bowl.

Bobby Carr won the hard-luck prize after smashing up his car in a spectacular crash in which a police constable was forced to leap clear.

SOLVED!
The mysteries of Easter Island!

Thor Heyerdahl of Kon-Tiki fame has been probing into the past of Easter Island. For centuries scholars have been puzzled by the huge sun-god statues that dot this Pacific island. How did the primitive natives hew these stone giants—some of them up to 69 feet in height and 100 tons in weight? There was no metal for tools, no apparent method of transportation. The story was lost in the mists of time, for suddenly around A.D. 1500 this Inca-like cult stopped its eerie carving ritual and disappeared.
